PETER RICE'S EXHIBITION
"EXPLORING MATERIALS"

Date 7.5.92

Dear Humbert -

Thank you very much for a wonderful weekend.

In our meeting about Peter's RIBA Exhibition yesterday with Martin Francis, Hugh Bultin (RFR) Brian Carter (Arup Associates) and myself, we discussed at length how best to represent the idea and spirit of the Moontheatre.

- a) The question of the atmosphere of the place, its remoteness, the landscape, the view:
It was felt that a model should be made showing the whole landscape of the area, with a tiny Gougenbates House + Moontheatre in the middle - similar to your slide showing this - I hope we can still use the stones and the thyme.
- b) The question of representing the Moontheatre:
It was felt that one of the most important things about the Moontheatre is how it is a prototype - an experiment which is growing and changing with new ideas and challenges. How to capture this spirit: it was felt that we should represent all the different sets of reflectors tested with drawings and photographs, and actually have physically present your tray with the shaving mirrors as you tested on the first night - this would demonstrate, with a moveable spot light, the movement of the moon and the idea of reflection + focusing of the light in the simplest and clearest way.
